Focus of the week: World Book Day

Thursday was a very special day in school as children joined in with a huge variety of activities including special assemblies and dressing up - teachers and pupils alike!.

Enthusiasm for Reading

World Book day is a national event which brings a wonderful focus to reading every March.

Throughout the year at Crosslee we work on the fundamentals of reading every day. We also like the fun of a huge event and the participation levels show how much our families appreciate this too.

Today we have had a whole range of literary inspiration, from Roald Dahl favourites to comic characters and Anime too! The enjoyment of the different dressing up and creative activities has allowed a whole range of interests to be developed!

We are sure that memories have been created today which will cause smiles for a long time to come.

Comments from the Children

I really liked dressing up.

We made front covers for our favourite books.

We learned about our favourite authors.

Library visits

Daily reading is proven to be beneficial to children's development in so many ways.

A relaxed visit to the library can promote an interest in books across a whole range of learning - all for free! What's not to like?

Headteacher's Comment

Well done to William and Quinn for attending the Co-op Plant Hill writing celebration for their wonderful travel stories! Also well to 6G for your excellent work at INTU on your visits this week.

We're wishing Miss Shepherd good luck as she is finishing today to start her maternity leave. Enjoy your time off and we look forward to seeing your baby boy when he arrives!

Wishing you all a lovely weekend and happy mother's day! Miss Crew
